time, making an investigation into the affairs of the salt manufactures of Onondaga and Montegama. For a few days past the Committee have been awaiting an opportunity to report, which they succeeded in doing this morning.

Their report is accompanied by a bill repealing the old law, and increasing the duries to three cents per bushel. But it had been whilepered around that said report contained matters, statements of facts and figures, that would be damaging to the interests of the salt monopoly of Syrscause, if allowed to become public. That monopoly has representatives in both Houses, kindly elected for them by the people of Onondaga County, and in addition thereto, the strong loby influence a love mentioned. By these combined influences, a plan had been devised and was carried out to squelch the report. To do this required some management. The Senate might not be willing to do it merely to oblige the salt manufactures. The proposition was to recommit the report to the committee, with power for them to sit during the reoces, make a thorough investigation of all matters connected with the salt manufactures, and report to the next Legislature. This motion was made and carried, and thus the question is disposed for this year.

and carried, and thus the question is disposed for this year.

CONGRESSIONAL APPORTIONMENT.

The matter of apportioning the State into Congressional Districts is proving a troublesome one for this Legislature. There are so many applicants for Congressional honors represented in the Legislature, either in person or by proxy, that it is a difficult matter to arrange the districts to suit all of them. It is not so much a question between political parties as between the rival interests in each. It was referred to a special Committee of the Senate to be perfected, and a special Committee baving charge of the same subject in the Assembly have been in consultation with them, but so far without favorable results. The special Committee of the House are not able to agree among themselves, and will make two reports, one of which Mr. Luddington reported this morning, but which was laid on the table until the other should appear.

SPEAKER PRO TEM.

SPEAKER PRO TEM.

SPEAKER PRO TEM.

Speaker Raymond has been absent of late for a day or two at a time on account of sickness in his family, and it being probable that he might be detained from the House so much as to make it necessary to elect a Speaker protein, a movement was made in that direction early this morning. During the contest for Speaker at the opening of the session, the highest opnosing candidate to the Speaker elected was Mr. Hulburd of St. Lawrence, and the usual couriesy in such cases would have caused his name to be selected as that of the Speaker protein. But Mr. Hulburd has been a Republican of some long standing, and all such who do not train strictly in the party uniform, or pull within the old traces, are to be selected as that of the Speaker pro tem. But Mr. Hulburd has been a Republican of some long standing, and all such who do not train strictly in the party uniform, or pull within the old traces, are more obnoxious to those that do than a regular hardshell Democrat. Shortly after the House met, Mr. McMullen stated that he had been informed by the Speaker that he would probably be compelled to be absent much of the time, and that it would be best for the House to elect a Speaker pro tem., and sent up to the Speaker's deak, then occupied by Mr. Porter, a resolution for the election of a Speaker pro tem. Mr. Tracy, not knowing what name was contained in the resolution, but judging from whom it came that it was not just the card that he would play, or opposed to anybody but himself doing anything so prominent, objected to the resolution being now received or acted upon, as the rules permutted the Speaker to be absent for two days, and to appoint a substitute for that time, and that it would be improper and out of order to elect a Speaker pro tem. until the two days were up. Mr. Pringle was also of that opinion, and read the rules to sustain it. The temporary Speaker took the same view and directed the resolution to be withdrawn. Thus the matter rested for the space of an hour or more, when Mr. Tracy offered a resolution with a whereas, that as the Speaker took the same view and directed the resolution to be withdrawn. Thus the matter rested for the space of an hour or more, when Mr. Tracy offered a resolution with a whereas, that as the Speaker of the House was absent necessarily much of the time, and that the convenience of the House and the interests of legislation required that bills should be signed and passed, resolved that Thos. G. Alvord be elected Speaker pro tem. for the remainder of the session. This sudden 'conversion, manifested by such early deeds of repentance, was very gratifying. Mr. Mc. Leod, expressing his surprise that the gentleman from Tioga should have so soon changed his views, moved to a

Mr. Layard said that her Majesty's Government was not responsible for articles in Italian newspapers, or for proclamations which might or might not have been issued. With respect to the facts alluded to by the Hon. Baronet, he believed he had some information. He believed that a draft of a proclamation had been drawn by an officer named Cubelli, who was not in the service of the Government, but it had never been printed.
